the single floor plans as navigation and map

the floor plan as the navigation map

the single floors related to spatial content resumen / brief description >

when we accepted to do the web for La Escuela de Arquitectura de Sevilla we mainly did that because we wanted to try an idea we already had outlined: to base the whole navigation on the floor plans of the faculty and to directly associate space and content. unfortunately the budget was cut during realizing the first phase and we never got the green light to widen this idea towards the whole cityplan and its related issues.
